red family style, inherited family style, scientific method

1. First, the Inheritance of the Red Family Style to Adhere to the Correct and Innovative Thinking Methods

General Secretary emphasized in the report of the Twentieth National Congress that "we must insist on observing the right and innovating" as one of the worldviews and methodologies for grasping the idea of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era. We are engaged in a great cause that no one has ever done before, and we can only observe the right in order to keep from losing our way and making subversive mistakes, and can only innovate in order to grasp the times and lead the times. Keeping the right and innovation emphasizes the unity and complementarity of tradition and innovation, and only on the premise of keeping the right can we better innovate, and only through continuous innovation can we better carry forward and inherit the tradition. Keeping the right and innovation complement each other, profoundly manifesting the dialectical unity of "change" and "no change", inheritance and development, principle and flexibility. 2023 On June 2, General Secretary emphasized at a symposium on the development of cultural inheritance in Beijing that "It is impossible to understand ancient China, or modern China, or future China, if China is not understood in terms of its long history of continuity", just as General Secretary emphasized in the Sansu Ancestral Temple that "we should be adept at drawing concepts and thinking of governance from the excellent Chinese traditional culture".

The construction of good family style in the new era must first inherit the ideological essence of family style construction in China's excellent traditional culture. For example, General Secretary, when meeting with representatives of the first National Civilized Family, emphasized that the Chinese nation has always attached importance to the family. As the saying goes, "the foundation of the world is at home". Respect for the old and love for the young, a good wife and husband, a kind mother and filial son, and respectful brothers. The traditional family virtues of the Chinese nation, such as cultivating and reading, being diligent and thrifty, knowing the books and abiding by the law, and prospering in all things, are remembered in the hearts and blood of the Chinese people, and are an important spiritual force supporting the Chinese nation's unceasing existence and the passing of the flame from one generation to the next, and are a valuable spiritual wealth for the construction of family civilization. General Secretary's discourse on family ethics has inherited the essence of family ethics in the excellent traditional Chinese culture, and has been constantly innovated in the light of the characteristics of the new era and the needs of state governance.

Inheriting the red family style in the new era can only be innovative by keeping the right. The red family style is a model for the construction of good family style in the new era. Red family style is a typical representative of good family style, red family style is the Party and the Chinese people's valuable spiritual wealth. Inheriting and promoting the red family style is the cultural consciousness of the Party. The red family style is the family culture formed by the old generation of proletarian revolutionaries of all times in the historical process of long-term revolutionary practice, social construction and reform and opening up, which is reflected in the idealism, moral character, integrity and self-discipline, family and friendship, and other aspects of the spiritual style, group consciousness and political character. It vividly interprets the spirit, beliefs and moral qualities of the Party, is the unique cultural identity and historical imprint of the Party, and is a valuable spiritual wealth of the Party and the Chinese people.

2. The Inheritance of the Red Family Style to Adhere to the System Concept of Thinking

Methods

The family is the cell of society, the family style linked to the party style, political style, social style, the family as long as the wind is correct, in order to clear the political style, social style good. Since the 18th Party Congress, with the Central Committee's anti-corruption efforts to increase, some family corruption, family corruption cases gradually come to light, so that we are deeply aware of the family style is small but far-reaching, family style is not only a small matter of the family, linked to the political style and the social style of the new era must attach importance to the construction of party cadres and the excellent family style. Study the red family style of the old generation of revolutionaries, learn from their strict self-cultivation, strict self-discipline, cleanliness and integrity of the family, distinguish between public and private, give up a small family for the sake of the noble quality of the big, combined with the new era of new issues, to the construction of excellent family style to cultivate the moral cultivation of party members and cadres. General Secretary's discourse on the construction of family style has inherited the basic moral value orientation of the excellent traditional Chinese family culture. In Volume 2 of General Secretary on Governance, General Secretary General Secretary talks about the relationship between the individual and the family, family education, and family style, and emphasizes the "nurturing" function of family style, "the family is the first classroom of life". The family is not just a place for people's bodies, but also a place for people's hearts." If the family culture is good, the family will be prosperous and harmonious; if the family culture is bad, it will inevitably affect the children and grandchildren and jeopardize the society. In addition to schools, families also bear the important responsibility of cultivating talents for society, and should help children buckle up the first button of life and take the first step in life. In General Secretary's Digest of Discourses on Focusing on Family, Family Education, and Family Ethics, it is said that we should strive to make the family an important base for national development, national progress, and social harmony. In his report to the 20th National Congress, General Secretary emphasized the need to raise the level of civilization of society as a whole, implement a project to build civic morality, carry forward traditional Chinese virtues, strengthen the construction of family tutelage and family culture, strengthen and improve the ideological and moral construction of minors, and promote the understanding of great morality, the observance of public morality, the strictness of private morality, and to raise the people's moral and civilized standard. It also promotes the spirit of labor, struggle, dedication, creativity, diligence and thrift in society as a whole, and fosters a new style and outlook for the times.

Only by adhering to the systematic concept of thinking can we realize that the construction of family culture is not only related to the future destiny of the family, but also related to the party style, political style and social style. General Secretary linked the construction of family culture and party culture and political culture and social culture, clarified that society is a system, in this large system of various factors are interconnected and intertwined, the family is the cell of the society, without the happiness of millions of families, there will be no prosperity and development of the country, only the construction of the family culture of each family, in order to support the morale of the whole society. The 20th report also emphasized widely practicing core socialist values, promoting the spiritual lineage of Chinese communists with the great Party spirit as its source, making good use of red resources, deeply carrying out publicity and education on core socialist values, deepening education on patriotism, collectivism and socialism, and focusing on cultivating new people of the times who will take up the big responsibility of national rejuvenation. General Secretary General Secretary has revealed that family style construction bears the important responsibility of talent cultivation, and talent is the strategic support for modernization in the new era, so it is evident that family style construction has an important mission in talent cultivation, and only by adhering to the systematic conceptual thinking can we really pay attention to family style construction, and take family style construction as an important hand to cultivate more successors for the society in the new era, and consolidate the strategic support for the realization of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation in our country. In his speech at the 2019 Spring Festival Reunion, General Secretary emphasized that we should vigorously promote family and national sentiments in the whole society, cultivate and practice socialist core values, carry forward the spirit of patriotism, collectivism and socialism, and advocate the unity of love of family and patriotism, so that everyone and every family can make contributions to the Chinese national family. Only by adhering to the systematic concept of thinking can we realize that the family style is closely related to everyone, and everyone should inherit the red family style and build their own family style.

3. Third, the Inheritance of the Red Family Style to Adhere to the Problem-Oriented Thinking Approach

Problems are the voice of the times, and answering and guiding the solution of problems is the fundamental task of theory. We need to enhance the awareness of problems and focus on new problems encountered in practice. Only by adhering to the problem-oriented way of thinking can we find real problems, solve real problems, and truly promote the inheritance of the red family style and the construction of good family style in the new era. General Secretary's important discussion on family style is precisely to adhere to the problem-oriented way of thinking, giving new ideas and concepts in line with Chinese characteristics for solving the problems of the Party's style of government and society in the new era, the problems of practicing socialist core values, and the construction of a harmonious society, starting from the family's family education and family style. General Secretary met with representatives of the first national civilized families and emphasized in his speech that "the majority of families should carry forward the good family style, and the good family style of millions of families should support the good culture of the whole society, especially the leading cadres at all levels should take the lead to grasp the good family style" Rituals. University" said 'the so-called governance must first Qi family, his family can not teach and teach people, no'". The family style of leading cadres is not only related to their own families, but also related to the Party's political style. Leading cadres at all levels, especially senior cadres, should inherit and carry forward the excellent traditional Chinese culture, inherit and carry forward the red family style of the revolutionary predecessors, learn from comrades, and do the example of family style construction, and put the cultivation of the body, the family into practice. It is by adhering to the problem-oriented way of thinking that we can constantly find new problems and solve them, constantly combine the spirit of the red family style with the needs of the new era, and realize the creative transformation and innovative development of the excellent red culture.
